

Review - FIAT 500C Gucci

Written by Wayne Lancaster
Wednesday, 29 January 2014 20:27

The Fiat 500 has been around since the 1950's and is the brands most iconic model, recently I got a chance to spend the week in the 500c Gucci convertible.

The Gucci as the name suggests is the result of a collaboration between Fiat and world famous fashion brand Gucci, now fashion to me is just making sure that I have the same coloured socks when I go out.

So I thought the green red green stripes across the top were just a subtle way of adding Italian flag colours to the car, it took my good wife to point out they were Gucci's signature colours. Now you can't miss the fact Gucci had something to do with this car apart from the stripes across the roof, the Gucci badges, GG on the rim centre caps, even Gucci green brake callipers.

It only comes in 2 colours black and the beautiful glossy white pearl that this car is painted in, the paint work even has glass beads in it to make it "shine like a gem" and really makes the Gucci stand out from other Fiat 500 convertibles.

Looking at the current model you can't help but see the original Fiat 500, this car has really stayed close to it's roots as far looking like the original 500.

Review - FIAT 500C Gucci

Written by Wayne Lancaster
Wednesday, 29 January 2014 20:27

Review - FIAT 500C Gucci

Written by Wayne Lancaster

Wednesday, 29 January 2014 20:27

3 on the tree

3 on the tree